The AGRISEP Journal is published by the Department of Agricultural Social Economics of the Faculty of Agriculture of Bengkulu University and is distributed twice a year in June and September. The journal AGRISEP is dedicated to researchers and academics who intend to publish research, scientific thought, and other original scientific notions. The article published in the Journal of AGRISEP is an original work of authors with a broad spectrum of topics covering agricultural economics and resources, agribusiness management, rural sociology, agrarian studies, regional development, politics and agricultural policy, natural resource and environmental management, and agricultural extension and rural areas. Submission of comments to articles published in the AGRISEP Journal was welcomed. The manuscript can be written in Indonesian or English.

AUTHOR GUIDELINE

1. The manuscript to be published to the journal AGRISEP must be original, unpublished and not in the publishing process. The manuscript may be the result of research or theory review in the field of: agricultural and natural resources economy, agribusiness, rural sociology, agrarian studies, regional development, agricultural politics and policy, natural resource and environmental management, as well as agricultural extension and communication.
2. The manuscript format is prepared in Indonesian or English and written in a concise and precise manner. Manuscripts will not exceed 16 pages including references and attachments. Scriptwriting templates can be accessed and downloaded on <http://ejournal.unib.ac.id/index.php/agrisep>
3. The manuscripts are arranged in the order of titles (capital letters) in Indonesian and English, author names without title and affiliation and email correspondence of author, abstract and keywords, introductions, research methods, results and discussion, conclusions and suggestions, as well as bibliography. Sub-sections can be added as needed. Systematics of writing is not required numbering in each chapter.
4. The abstract consists of 100-250 words, typed one space consisting of problems, objectives, methods, results and conclusions, written in English for the Indonesian language script as well as in Indonesian and English for English manuscripts. After the abstract should be written keywords that fit the topic of research.
5. All tables and figures should be given a title in the text and numbered in Arabic numerals as well as added captions if required.
6. An author wishing to submit a paper to the Jurnal AGRISEP should send it by email to jurnalagrisep@unib.ac.id. All correspondence, including notification of the Editor's decision and requests for revision, takes place electronically.
7. Revised manuscript. The author have to revise the manuscript at least 1 month after being received from the AGRISEP journal management team (first edited paper). Papers sent back to the Journal AGRISEP management team after one month are considered new submissions. Revised printed manuscripts must be re-submitted 1 week after received from the AGRISEP journal management team.
8. The bibliography or References are arranged alphabetically from the first and the next author. The References list only contains the references cited in the manuscript. If there are two manuscripts or more of the same author and year, mark with a, b, c, and so on after the year of publication. Consider the following example formats :
